

FPRI at a Glance

In each of our projects, we strive to address a vital issue of the day and do so in a way that speaks to multiple audiences. The research produced by our scholars takes the form of books and articles in professional journals that help shape the intellectual climate in which foreign policy is made. This work is also condensed into lectures, bulletins, webposted videotapes and other forms that reach a much larger group. We are thus able to reach a wide spectrum that includes policymakers and policy analysts, scholars, educators, the media, and interested citizens. — Harvey Sicherman, President, FPRI

American Strategy, chaired by Harvey Sicherman (Ph.D. in International Relations, University of Pennsylvania)

Center on Terrorism, Counterterrorism, and Homeland Security
Chaired by Stephen Gale (Ph.D. in Geography, University of Michigan) and Michael Radu (Ph.D. in International Relations, Columbia University).

Center for the Study of America and the West
Chaired by Walter A. McDougall (Ph.D. in History, University of Chicago) and James Kurth (Ph.D. in Political Science, Harvard University).

Marvin Wachman Fund for International Education
Directed by Alan H. Luxenberg (M.A. in Diplomatic History, Temple University)

History Institute for Teachers, chaired by David Eisenhower (J.D., George Washington University School of Law) and Walter A. McDougall (Ph.D. in History, University of Chicago)

The Asia Program, directed by Jacques deLisle (J.D., Harvard University)

Program on National Security, chaired by Hon. John F. Lehman (Ph.D., University of Pennsylvania) and directed by Michael Noonan (M.A., Creighton University)

Project on Democratic Transitions, directed by Hon. Adrian Basora

Project on Think Tanks and Civil Societies, directed by James McGann (Ph.D. in Public and Urban Policy, University of Pennsylvania)

“A nation must think before it acts.”

— ROBERT STRAUZ-HUPÉ, FOUNDER OF FPRI

MISSION – Founded in 1955, FPRI is devoted to bringing the insights of scholarship to bear on the development of policies that advance U.S. national interests. We add perspective to events by fitting them into the larger historical and cultural context of international politics.

WHO WE ARE – The scholars of FPRI include a former aide to three U.S. secretaries of state, a Pulitzer Prize-winning historian, a former president of Swarthmore College (and a Bancroft Prize-winning historian), and a former staff member of the National Security Council. We count among our trustees a former Secretary of State, a former Under Secretary of Defense, a former Secretary of the Navy, a university president emeritus, a foundation president, and several active or retired corporate CEOs. And we count among our extended network of scholars—especially, our Inter-University Study Groups—representatives of diverse disciplines, including political science, history, economics, law, management, religion, sociology, and psychiatry.

WHAT WE DO – We conduct research on pressing issues – homeland security and the war on terrorism, developments in the Middle East, relations with China, Russia, and Japan — and long-term questions, such as the role of religion in international politics or the nature of Western identity and its implications for the U.S. and the Atlantic Alliance. We publish a quarterly journal, Orbis, and a series of bulletins, both of which draw on the research findings of our scholars, our Inter-University Study Groups, our conferences, and our seminars. Through our Marvin Wachman Fund for International Education, we educate the public and “teach the teachers.” In this way, we serve the community and the nation, the policymakers and the educators, Wall Street and Main Street.

A VAST REACH – Each week, FPRI transmits by email a succinct analysis of some critical international issue. These bulletins are emailed to some 25,000 key people in 85 countries directly, and reach thousands more indirectly by postings and repostings on the Internet. Frequently, they are reprinted in or quoted by newspapers around the world. Our scholars are also invited to testify on Capitol Hill, comment on national radio and television, and consult informally with U.S. government officials.

FOREIGN POLICY RESEARCH INSTITUTE

1528 Walnut Street, Suite 610 • Philadelphia, PA 19102-3684
Tel. 215-732-3774 • Fax 215-732-4401
Email fpri@fpri.org • Website: www.fpri.org

Providing Ideas in Service to
Our Nation Since 1955

John M. Templeton, Jr. & Ronald J. Naples
Dinner Chairmen

Invite you to attend

The Foreign Policy Research Institute's 2007 Annual Dinner and the presentation of

THE THIRD ANNUAL BENJAMIN FRANKLIN PUBLIC SERVICE AWARD

honoring and featuring a keynote by

ROBERT ZOELICK

Thursday, November 15, 2007

The Westin Hotel – Philadelphia
99 South 17th Street at Liberty Place

6:00 p.m. Cocktail Reception
7:00 p.m. Dinner and Program

